BASE BURNERS PUT INTO SERVICE

Winter Slips up on Rushville and Brings Drop of Thirty Degrees in Temperature Along.

WILL REMAIN INDEFINITELY

Sudden Change to Seasonable Weather Expected to Attract Attention to Holidays.

Unheralded and unannounced winter slipped into Rushville and Rush county Sunday, and from present indications, is here to stay awhile. At least that's the view the weather man takes of the situation.

Between Saturday midnight and Sunday afternoon at four o'clock there was a change of thirty degrees in the temperature and this morning the mercury had slid down to fourteen degrees above zero, which is the lowest temperature recorded here this season.

The sun peeped its head through the clouds occasionally during the day, but had little effect on the temperature which hung below the freezing mark all day. Try as it might, the mercury could not rise above the twenty-third station on the thermometer.

The sudden change in the weather caused a hasty rearrangement in most Rushville households. Base-burners were set up and a fire started. Men who do such work were at a premium. Many homes were cold and cheerless until first aid to the freezing could be furnished. Lots of Rushville householders have been depending on gas thus far, but this morning shivers went up their back when they realized the possibility of awakening some zero morning this winter without a cubic foot of gas to make the meter buzz.

Fewer people than ever are using gas for heating purposes this year. Some of the companies have made preparations to keep the gas supply the equal of what it has been the last few winters, but some have made no arrangements to meet the demands of cold weather on the plea that they have not the funds because of the low price that is charged for gas.

A veritable blizzard held sway in Rushville yesterday and kept everybody huddled in front of a warm fire. The sudden change was all the more severe because of the unseasonably warm weather that preceded it. The streets were deserted yesterday and the church attendance was cut down. The snow did not last long because much of it melted soon after striking the ground.

The sudden change to seasonable temperatures is expected to turn the thoughts of people to the holidays which are in the office waiting for a cue to enter. It is believed by local merchants that such weather will offer an incentive for Christmas shopping and that business will increase very materially this week.

Real weather will prevail all over the county this week, according to the weekly bulletin issued by the United States weather bureau at Washington, D. C. last night.

"The week will open with low temperatures, probably the lowest of the present season," said the bulletin "over the interior districts east of the Rocky Mountains, and with the frosts to the middle Gulf of Mexico coast. It will be colder during the second half of the week over the northwest, and by the end of the week over the north central portion of the country.

"There will be snow Monday from

MEETINGS WILL CONTINUE

Revival at First Baptist Church Will be Held This Week.

Large crowds continue to attend the revival meetings held at the First Baptist church in North Morgan street. In spite of the very inclement weather, the audience was as big as usual last night when the Rev. S. G. Huntington, the pastor of the church, preached on the subject, "Inventions." It was an illustrated sermon. Tonight the subject will be, "The One Thing Needful." The meetings will continue throughout the week.

BURGLARS ENTER VIGRAN'S STORE

Only It Was the One in Connersville Instead of the Local Store—
Take Clothing
ENTER THROUGH WINDOW

The Vigran department store in Connersville, which is owned by the same firm as the Vigran store in this city, was broken into and ten suits of clothes, several pairs of trousers, half dozen overcoats, a number of hats and two pairs of shoes were carried away. The burglars gained an entrance through a rear window. Mr. Vigran believes that other merchandise was taken but as yet has been unable to account for any great amount. One of the thieves took time to change clothes as an old hat and other wearing apparel were found in the store. The police believe that the robbery was carefully planned and think that the loot was carried away in a wagon. The proprietor has missed clothing for some time and he now thinks that the burglars have made numerous visits to the store.

FRESH MEAT IS SCARCE THIS YEAR

Few Years Ago Grocers Had to Refuse to Buy It Because Supply Was so Great.

THERE'S A REASON FOR IT

Fresh meat grows more scarce in Rush county every year, according to local grocers. They say that they have very few chances any more to buy fresh meat from farmers, whereas a few years ago many times grocers had to refuse to buy several times during the season because of the large supply. The grocers here say that farmers now have a kind of community plan whereby one farmer butchers and supplies all the other farmers in the neighborhood with meat until another butchers.

There has been very little fresh meat on the local market yet this season. It is still a little early, however. Farmers seldom ever kill only enough hogs before Christmas to furnish meat for themselves and do not butcher for the purpose of storing meat until the holidays. It is then that they have a surplus of fresh meat. There have been very few rabbits on the market this season and they have sold for twenty cents dressed. It is expected more of them will be offered for sale following the change in the weather.

FIRE RISK GREAT AT THIS SEASON

Christmas Displays Increase Dangers Because Paper and Tinsel Are Hung About Lights.

XMAS DECORATIONS UNSAFE

State Fire Marshal Urges That Every Precaution be Taken to Safeguard Against Fires.

At note of warning against Christmas fires, when the fire risk is the greatest, is contained in the weekly bulletin issued from the state fire marshal's office in Indianapolis today.

"Unsafe Christmas displays are the source of most holiday fires," says the state fire marshal, "and holiday fires are probably the most dangerous to human life of any that occur. Churches stores and bazaars are usually crowded with people at the time they are most elaborately decorated, and fires occurring then almost invariably result in panic, with an accompanying loss of life."

For the past few weeks many folders and bulletins explaining the precautions which should be taken by merchants and decorators upon the approach of the Christmas season, have been received at the fire marshal's office.

These bulletins show the danger of tinsel and paper decorations, particularly when these materials are draped about electric lights. Such flimsy materials are considered highly inflammable and they burst into flame so easily, that they carry fire in all directions without a moment's warning.

Instructions emphasizing the importance of safe electric wiring are being sent to merchants all over the United States by the secretary of the Western Association of Electrical Inspectors. These advise specifically that no changes in wiring be made unless an electrical inspector is consulted. Merchants are urged to keep all lamps clear of decoration and to regard safety as the primary aim in constructing all holiday displays. Practically the same precautions are also urged upon churches and bazaars.

Since practically every city store in Indiana will be crowded during the Christmas season, the fire marshal is very anxious that store managers see that every precaution be taken to safe guard against fire. He urges especially that new clerks be made thoroughly acquainted with all exits and fire escapes, and that the regular fire drills be held as often as possible. In order that panics may be prevented in case of fire, the fire marshal desires that old clerks be so instructed that they will be capable of handling almost any situation that may arise.

In churches and bazaars, especially in the smaller cities in the state, open gas jets are regarded as extremely hazardous during times of Christmas decoration. Air currents often carry long paper streamers or other pieces of decoration into the blaze, and fire spreads over the whole building before any steps for prevention can be taken. Because of the dangers from matches, cigars and cigarettes, the fire marshal urges that smoking within public buildings be forbidden throughout the Christmas season.

A very successful revival meeting is in progress at the New Salem Methodist Protestant church. The pastor the Rev. W. W. Lineberry, has charge.

TIME RIPE FOR GOOD FELLOWS

Cheerless Days Are Here, But Prospect of Their Help Will Make Children Happy.

VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED NOW

Incidents From Other Places Show Results That Good Fellows Are Accomplishing.

The Good Fellows League has made an impressive appeal to the people of Rushville and Rush county, as is indicated by the inquiries about it, but very few people have volunteered yet to be good fellows. The time is ripe for action.

The dreary and chilly days of the approaching Yuletide have arrived and without anticipation of a happy Christmas, the hearts of the little folks in Rushville, who have been benefited in the past years by the Santa Claus fund, would be cheerless indeed were it not for the prospect of the good fellows who are going to help.

Good Fellows must act at once if they expect to get the cream of the Christmas offerings. Already the Christmas shopping season is open and the best of the gift articles are being picked over.

There will probably be over two hundred children to be remembered and they can easily be taken care of if the god fellows will come forward at once like the good fellows that they are and offer to carry the holiday spirit to one or more of the little folks who can not expect any presents from their own families, because of unfortunate conditions.

The Good Fellows League is about the only organization in the country that recognizes woman's suffrage. The league knows no sex, because that does not enter into the qualifications for membership. All that is necessary to be a Good Fellow is to be a good fellow.

Any organization in Rushville can accomplish a world of good by volunteering to take some Christmas cheer to some of the little folks. Girls' clubs or women's organizations of all sorts can reap joys untold agreeing to take any given number of children and be Good Fellows to them. The cost would be small and then there would be the joy of dressing dolls and preparing the bundles for the little folk. All that is necessary is to call the Good Fellows editor at the Republican office and he will be able to supply the number of names wanted, including age, sex and address in a very few days.

The Good Fellows League has battled a thousand per cent in Kokoma, Muncie and other Indiana cities in the past seasons and indications are that they will keep up the average this season. They are already at work, as is shown by the following from the Muncie Press, which indicates what a little band of girls can do and have done:

One of the first telephone calls for enrollment in the "Good Fellow" club this year came from the young lady employes of the Muncie exchange of the Central Union Telephone company. The "Good Fellow" editor was called upon to furnish the names of thirty little girls and thirty little boys and the girls in the telephone exchange purpose to bring Christmas cheer to every one of the sixty little folks. Already the young ladies are engaged in dressing dolls, making stockings to be filled with candy and by the time Christmas eve rolls around they will have dolls, almost severed.

HELD MEMORIAL SERVICES

E. H. Wolfe Delivered Address at Elks Lodge of Sorrow.

The local Elks lodge held memorial services yesterday afternoon at the lodge room in North Main street. The Lodge of Sorrow, as the services is known, was observed by all the lodges in the country. The Rushville lodge has not yet lost a member and due to the fact that the lodge has only been organized a short time the memorial services were not public. Col. E. H. Wolfe, state inspector of the Masonic lodge, was the principal speaker and delivered a fine address. Talks were also made by Earl Payne, A. B. Irvin and T. W. Betker. About fifty members were in attendance.

VANDALS PLUNDER THE COUNTRY CLUB

Officials Will Take Steps to Prosecute Unless Destruction of Property Ceases at Once.

BOY SCOUT DETECTS THIEVES

Vandals have been destroying much property at the Rushville Gun and Country club and Saturday two of them were detected in the act of rumaging through the locker house and selecting the best of the stuff that had been left in the lockers. The club officials are aroused over the acts of these rowdies, and since they know who at least two of them are, they will swear out affidavits and have arrests made if the petty thieving is noted even once again.

The Boy Scouts here were given the privilege of using the club house for their regular weekly meetings each Friday night which led to the discovery that locks had been broken indiscriminately and lockers entered. The club house was found open Friday evening, the lock to the front door having been broken open. It was found that the thieves had entered the locker house through a back window. This window was wired shut, but Saturday one of the Boy Scouts found two of the vandals in the locker house. The lock to the front door had been broken and the locks on most of the lockers torn off. The two young men were in the act of sorting over the plunder when the Boy Scout arrived and frightened them away.

HENRY HEEB PASSED AWAY

Brother of Local Man Expired Near Glenwood.

The funeral services of Henry Heeb, a brother of Philip Heeb of this city, who died Saturday morning at his home near Glenwood, were held this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Thomas Shields in Connersville. Mr. Heeb was sixty-seven years old and had lived near Orange and Glenwood all his life. He is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. Barbara Schoenig and Mrs. Margaret Coltrane and two brothers, William Heeb of Connersville and Philip Heeb of this city.

Charmer Hughes sustained a painful injury to his right hand Saturday afternoon while painting at the Windsor hotel. A heavy window fell on his hand and the little finger was almost severed.

LOCAL LIBRARY GETS LECTURERS

First of Series For Winter Will be Given by I. U. English Professor at Assembly Room.

FIXED BY STATE COMMISSION

Some of the Best Speakers in State Are on Program and Subjects Are Timely.

A very interesting course of lectures has been prepared for the public libraries throughout the state by the State Library commission. Some of the best speakers in Indiana appear upon the program of this lecture course and their subjects are of very general interest and value. The Rushville Library board has arranged for several of these lectures, and the first one will be given in the assembly room of the court house on next Friday evening, December 12, at seven-thirty o'clock. W. E. Jenkins, professor of English in Indiana university, will lecture on the "Contemporary drama and Social Reform." The lecture is free, and the public is cordially invited.

The list of speakers arranged for by the state commission includes: C. H. Baldwin, state entomologist; Dr. H. E. Barnard, Food and Drug Commissioner of Weights and Measures; Rev. Harry Blount, Minister, First Congregational Church, Indianapolis; Demarehus C. Brown, State Librarian; J. A. Brown, State Agent, Board of State Charities; Amos W. Butler, Sec'y Board of State Charities; Prof. Stanley Coulter, Dean, School of Science, Purdue University; Mrs. C. M. Curry; Prof. George Henry Danton, Butler College; J. P. This is the Age of Ideals in Business

Modern business success is founded on ideals—backed up with ideas.

Modern advertising such as you see in a live daily newspaper like The Daily Republican is the voice of business.

It is a bright cheery voice because it wishes to attract.

It is an entertaining voice because it wishes to hold your interest.

It is a truthful, sincere voice because it wishes to succeed.

If we are to judge business from the improvement in advertising that is going on from month to month we find it reaching higher and higher ideals all the time.

There is no better index to the high character of American business than the advertisements you read in your favorite daily newspaper.

Advertising is the voice of optimism.

YOUR UNDERWEAR

Of course, you will buy it, and this Winter, too. Underwear weather is belated this year, but it always arrives. Now, the question is "What brand of Underwear will you use?" Leave it to us—"CARTERS". Yes, leave it to us to guide you aright, and use "CARTERS" because it's the best.

It is now universally known there is no article of apparel so satisfactory as Underwear which is exactly right in shape, fabric and finish. We find "CARTERS" first in each of these vital essentials—Exact in correctness of length of trunk; made of finest yarns, therefore soft, light and elastic, and at the same time, close fitting and warm. Distinctly neat and fine in finish.

DR. MONTESORRI

Noted Italian Educator Now Visiting in This Country.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Phyllander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, speaking of the possibility of the introduction of the Montessori system of education of children in the New York public schools, said he thought such a thing would be entirely feasible and that it could be done with very little additional cost over what is now spent in the instruction of the young in that city.

COUNTERCHARGES IN GRAFT PROBE CASES

Out of All These Stories Truth May Come.

New York, Dec. 8.—Secretary of the Board of Water Supply Joseph P. Morrissey, a cousin of Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, declares that a story of petty graft laid before the district attorney by Dennis J. Murphy is the result of a refusal to pay blackmail to Murphy. He said he could disprove every charge made and will welcome an opportunity to tell Mr. Whitman what he knows.

Morrissey is a friend of Thomas Hassett, State Engineer Bensel's former confidential agent. The latter is charged by Madison R. Aldrich with having accepted a bribe of $1,500. The John Doe investigation now being conducted by the district attorney gets nearer to New York every day, and inquiries into the manner in which contracts have been let by the board of water supply are likely to be made.

Hassett was a predecessor of Morrissey as secretary of the board of water supply. He and James M. Hamilton and Samuel Beskin are the State Highways Construction company. This company got from the board of water supply the $880,000 contract for a road around the Ashokan dam. Hamilton figures in the charges which Dennis J. Murphy has made against Morrissey.

Murphy alleges that Morrissey used his position as secretary to the board of water supply to get free supplies for a rose farm in which Morrissey and Murphy were interested.

MONTGOMERY WARD'S DEATH

Originator of Mail Order Business Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—A. Montgomery Ward, originator of the mail order business and head of the $40,000,000 mail order house which bears his name, is dead at his home in Highland Park. Pneumonia, contracted following a fall some weeks ago, when he broke a hip bone, caused the death of this seventy-year-old pioneer in what has become a great branch of merchandising. His wife, his daughter and Mrs. George H. Thorne, a sister-in-law, were at his bedside at the end, the patient not losing consciousness until the last minute.

Villa's Advance Interrupted.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 8.—General Pancho Villa, rebel conqueror of the state of Chihuahua, did not make his formal entry into the state capital Sunday. Bad conditions of the roadbed and necessary attention to matters in the field are given in Juarez as the explanation of failure of the rebel chief to enter the state capital, where part of his troops are already garrisoned.

Going After the Trusts.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Public hearings will begin tomorrow before the house judiciary committee on bills proposing supplementary anti-trust legislation. The president's special message on anti-trust legislation probably will not be forwarded to congress until the first week in January.

Charged With Short Weight.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 8.—City Seal J. C. Wallenmeyer arrested Ernest McGregor, said to be the "potato bait," whose short weight has been the subject of complaint here for weeks.

DIPLOMAS FOR "AGGIE" CHAMPS

Department of Agriculture Will Hold Reception For Boys' and Girls' Club in Washington.

DECEMBER 11 TO 18 INCLUSIVE

Organization Has Membership of Over 150,000 With Membership in all Parts of Country.

Washington, D. C. Dec. 8.—The Department of Agriculture has issued an official program for the annual reception of the champion members of the boys' and girls' agricultural clubs which will be held in Washington December 11th to 18th. The itinerary includes a reception by President Wilson, the awarding of diplomas by Secretary of Agriculture Houston and attending sessions of both the Senate and House and hearings before the Senate and House Committee on Agriculture.

There will be a champion member of the Boys' Corn Clubs from each of the southern states; champions of the Girls' Canning Clubs from the southern, northern and western states, and Girls and Boys' Potato Club champions from Massachusetts, Ohio, Utah, Iowa and Michigan. Colorado will send a Sugar Beet Club boy as the champion sugar beet grower of the State and the sole representative of this club work which has recently been started by the Department. These champion boys and girls will represent an organization of over 150,000 boys and girls.

While the Department will officially have charge of the program for the reception, the expenses of the trip are being defrayed by the different states, counties, municipal authorities and private citizens.

The members will arrive in Washington December 11th and will be given a "get acquainted" reception at the Ebbitt House. The President will receive the delegates on Monday morning December 15th at 10:20 o'clock.

The program for the 12th includes a visit to different points of interest in the city and a trip to Arlington Cemetery and Ft. Meyer. During the morning of the 13th Secretary Houston will present the champion winners with diplomas, after which moving pictures of the party will be taken. They will then visit the different departments and museums. A theatre party will be given in the evening.

Sunday, the 14th, will be given to rest and attending churches and meetings of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. On the following day the party will be taken down the Potomac to Mount Vernon, to visit the home and tomb of Washington. On the 16th a visit will be made to the Capitol where Congress will be seen in session; hearings before the Committees on Agriculture will be attended; a visit will be made to the Government Printing Office and Navy Yard, and a theatre party will be given in the evening. The two final days, the 17th and 18th, will be taken up with visits to the Pan-American Union Building, Potomac Park, Corcoran Art Gallery and the different legations, an auto trip through the city and a trip to the Zoological Park. The annual conference of club leaders will be held and a special conference on the Girls' Club work. A feature of the week will be a conference of the Department's lady agents who will be in Washington from every section where they are located and who will act as chaperons to the boys and girls.

Girl Wanted.

A young lady with fair education can secure steady employment at the Republican office. Call personally. Applications over the phone will not be considered.

BRING LUNCHESES TO COURT ROOM

Women Show Much Interest In Craig Trial.

IS IT MORBID CURIOSITY?

So Many Weird Conjectures Have Been Made by Imaginative Newspaper Writers Regarding the Killing of Dr. Helene Knabe That Spectators at Trial Apparently Are Awaiting Any Sort of Development.

Shelbyville, Ind., Dec. 8.—The city of Shelbyville has been a center of interest since the trial of Dr. W. B. Craig, charged with killing Dr. Helene Knabe in Indianapolis in the fall of 1911 has been on here. Men and women have crowded the small courtroom to hear the evidence presented at this trial, following the inclination to satisfy a craving for thrills, but so far they have been somewhat disappointed. This murder trial has been devoid of interest to the sensation-loving folk. But the men and women have come day after day apparently hoping on each recurring visit to find something that would buoy their interest.

Since the death of Dr. Knabe so many strange, weird stories suggesting possibilities of the cause of her death have been circulated that there is little wonder so many have sought the Shelby courtroom for a place to satisfy their craving.

Some may have come believing that the evidence would substantiate the story that death was caused by an ape which found its way into her apartments that night. The people got this story in a paper soon after the death of Dr. Knabe, and the memory of that article has remained with them these two years and more. But they have been disappointed in that. The article was inspired by a mystery story famous in fiction.

They may have come to gather what they could in the life of Dr. Knabe and in the life of Dr. Craig. Nothing sensational has been brought out at this hearing concerning the lives of the principals. If sensational incidents have been in their lives it has not been brought out at this trial. But the people are here—hundreds of them every day—men and women, particularly the latter, and they are making the most of their surroundings. Scores of women have been turned away unable to get into the courtroom. For days as many as a dozen women have come to the courtroom in the morning carrying their lunches. They eat at the noon recess and remain until court adjourns.

The time-honored custom of hitching teams around the courthouse yard is in vogue here. As many as one-half the owners of those teams have spent from two to four hours a day in the courtroom. The gallery that extends from the east to the west sides of the room has been crowded every day since the trial opened. The floor and the supports are so frail that at times it seems as if it would fall from the weight imposed on it, but the women who occupy it do not seem to mind; they are waiting for a thrill.

SOUGHT A HORRIBLE DEATH

Woman Soaked Clothes In Oil and Applied a Match.

Wabash, Ind., Dec. 8.—After having failed to end her life with poison, Mrs. Josephine Alexander, forty-five years old, widow of a prominent farmer, poured a gallon of oil on her dress and, stepping into the yard, applied a match. Instantly she was enveloped in flames, which were fanned as she ran about the premises. Two neighbors passing saw the woman and hurried to her rescue. While the flames were finally smothered, they were not extinguished before the flesh on her body was cooked. When the burned remnants of her garments were taken from her body great pieces of flesh fell off. Death followed a few hours later. Mrs. Alexander had often expressed a desire to die since the death of her husband a number of years ago.

Hanged Himself In Old Barn. Greencastle, Ind., Dec. 8.—After it had hung in an out-of-the-way barn for almost a week, the body of Harvey Allee, thirty-eight years old, was found. A rope had been tied to one of the beams of the roof, and after he had hitched a noose about his neck, the man evidently jumped from the loft.

War on High-Priced Eggs. Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 8.—Members of the Woman's Club league of Fort Wayne have planned to institute a boycott against eggs at prevailing prices, and have named committees to interest the members of the league in each of the thirteen districts in the state.

Board of Pardons Meets. Indianapolis, Dec. 8.—The state board of pardons began its quarterly session this morning. About forty cases will be heard, and it is expected that several petitions which have been on file a long time will be passed upon.

The Quaker Oats company, in answer to a suit to dissolve it as being in restraint of trade, denies all the allegations of the government.

MISS CURRIE DEAD.

Miss Elizabeth Currie, 77 years old, died this morning at 11:30 o'clock at the home of the Rev. Paul Stewart in Milroy. Miss Currie was an aunt of the Rev. Mr. Stewart and had lived with him for some time. She had been in ill health for a long time and death was due to complication of diseases. Miss Currie was formerly from Xenia, Ohio, and the remains will be taken there tomorrow morning for burial.

A Ludicrous Position.

The Indianapolis Star, in an editorial affecting a degree of holy horror because some congressmen presumed to call men working for the Hetch Hetchy valley bill in Congress lobbyists, places itself in a very ludicrous position in the light of its attitude on the Mulhall charges that sought to incriminate men in public life.

Says the Star: "Gifford Pinchot and former Governor Bell of California have been charged on the floor of the Senate with lobbying, the one for, the other against, the Hetch Hetchy bill. There was no intimation that any improper methods were used, but the charge itself was made with intent to place a stigma on the two men, the disposition of congressmen being now to affect virtue when the word lobby is spoken, and to assume that the mere mention to them of any pending bill by an outsider is improper.

"All of which is nonsense. Senators and representatives do not possess universal knowledge. Many bills come before them that relate to local conditions on which it is their duty to obtain the facts. If they are of ordinary intelligence they know perfectly well whether or not the men who are ready to present these facts are acting in good faith; they know whether they are lobbyists in the offensive sense of the term—anxious to gain some corrupt or improper advantage—or whether they are there in the public interest as they understand it."

Of course, it depends largely on the viewpoint. Gifford Pinchot is a member of a new third party and is, therefore, to be exonerated of any or all charges at the outset. It would be presumptuous, of course, to believe that his opponent in this particular fight were a lobbyist "in the offensive sense of the term," because this would reflect on Mr. Pinchot.

It is not to be supposed that former Governor Bell was in Washington working for the bill so that San Francisco would have a new water supply source purely with philanthropic motives. We quite agree with the Star that it is nonsense, "this disposition of congressmen being now to affect virtue when the word lobby is spoken."

But not many weeks have elapsed since the Star was gleefully portraying the direful results that would develop from the pernicious lobbying going forward in Washington, as revealed by a blackmailer and perjurer. The Star's change of front is to be commended and is not unexpected, but it illustrates that the Star thinks more of political advantage than it does its own honest opinions.

All Not Utopian.

Even in the land of Progressivism, all is not the sweet Utopia that it is pictured. In Richmond, the stronghold of the new party in Indiana, where a mayor was elected by the Progressives and where the party is in a large measure dominated by the Palladium, Rudolph Leed's newspaper, trouble is already brewing. To the Palladium belongs much of the prestige for placing Richmond in the political condition it is in today. The Palladium naturally feels that it has been badly handled when it is not allowed to dictate the appointments of the mayor-elect. The appointments were announced Saturday and the Palladium has started a campaign of spreading dissatisfaction, as it did with the Republican party in Wayne county, because the Palladium was not suited. News dispatches say that the Palladium is raising a fuss because Mayor-elect Robbins appointed a blacksmith for chief of police, a lineman as superintendent of the $500,000 municipal water and light plant, and Dr. S. G. Smelser, health officer. Dr. Smelser, who last fall was reappointed a member of the state board of medical examination and registration over the protest of the Wayne County Medical society.

Teachers' Association.

"Increase the association membership to ten thousand" will be the keynote of the opening address of A. O. Neal, incoming president of the Indiana Teachers' association, which meets in Indianapolis the three days before Christmas. There are seventeen thousand teachers in Indiana, but only between four and five thousand are members of the association. There seems to be some reason for that, at least in this county. It is reported that township trustees have never allowed teachers to attend the state meeting by refusing to dismiss school and keep the salary going. This is stated to be the reason why so very few teachers are affiliated with the association. They feel that it will profit them nothing to belong unless they can attend the annual meeting. This year the meeting comes at such a time that the trustees fixed the Christmas vacation so teachers can attend. It appears that a teacher could not benefit his or her status better than by attending the state sessions.

HETCH HETCHY BILL
PASSES THE SENATESan Francisco Wins Long Fight for Water Supply.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The measure giving San Francisco water supply and power rights in the Hetch Hetchy valley of the Tuolumne river, Yosemite national park, passed the senate by a vote of 43 to 25. The bill had previously passed the house in identically the same form, and goes at once to the president for signature.

The victory for San Francisco ends a fight that has been waged in congress for several years, in which conservationists and nature clubs took a conspicuous part. The bill gives San Francisco authority to erect a dam in the Hetch Hetchy valley creating a storage reservoir, authority to flood the necessary parts of the valley, to create electric power and sell it under the local regulations of California and to construct conduits and canals through public lands where necessary as part of the city's water supply system.

Provision is made to protect the water rights of settlers on irrigated lands in the Turlock and Modesto irrigation districts in the San Joaquin, and the city will be required to construct roads in the park including a scenic highway, to provide "sightly" buildings and to furnish power at cost to irrigation users. Opponents of the bill included those who declared the beauty of the valley would be spoiled and that settlers on irrigated land would be deprived of an adequate supply of water.

BLOODSHED IN MICHIGAN

Three More Deaths as Result of Strike in Copper Mines.

Calumet, Mich., Dec. 8.—Two strike breakers were shot to death and a third was so seriously wounded that he died last night in an attack made by striking copper miners on a non-union boarding house at Painesdale early Sunday morning. Mary Nicholson, fourteen years old, was seriously wounded as she lay in her bed.

The dead are Arthur James, aged twenty-one, and Harry James, aged twenty-four, both of Toronto, and Thomas Dally, twenty-four years old. Six arrests were made.

Another Rescue From a Burning Ship.

NO LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED

That the Rescue of the Imperilled Passengers of the American Steamer Rio Grande Was Effected by the British Steamer Swanmore in a High Sea Without Loss of a Single Life, Is Regarded as Extraordinary.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 8.—While the big ship was on fire and thought to be in danger, one hundred and ninety-seven passengers were taken off the steamer Rio Grande at sea Sunday morning. The rescue was made by the Merchants and Miners Transportation company's steamer Swanmore. The latter steamer heard the Rio Grande's call for assistance about 2 o'clock in the morning and went immediately to her aid. She almost was alongside the burning vessel at 4 o'clock, and in response to signals from the Rio Grande, lowered lifeboats and sent them to the burning ship.

The Rio Grande also had her lifeboats ready, hanging in the davits loaded with passengers, when the Swanmore reached her. The rescue was made 205 miles northwest of Diamond Shoals during a severe southwest blow. There was a high sea, but there was such perfect discipline among the crews of both steamers that not a boat was jammed against the sides of either ship. The crew on the Rio Grande, almost exhausted by their fight with fire, were eager to take the passengers to safety.

The passengers were not aware that the ship was on fire until Saturday, it is said, although some of them had spoken of the decks being hot and the presence of most of the crew below decks. No passengers were permitted below decks and women and children were ordered to their staterooms.

Wireless reports, while meager, state that after the Swanmore had taken all the passengers on board, her crew helped to fight the fire on the Rio Grande.

The rescue was made before daylight in mid-ocean and was, marine men say, the most thrilling recorded in some time. The fact that not a boat was swamped and not a single lifeboat lost is, under the circumstances, almost miraculous, old mariners aver.

One report from the burning ship says that after the fire was got under control the passengers were transferred from the Swanmore back to the Rio Grande. Another said some of the passengers still are on the former vessel. The Rio Grande is an American steamer which plies between New York and Brunswick. The Swanmore is said to be conveying the Rio Grande and will be in easy reach if she is again needed. The Swanmore is a British ship. She left Liverpool Nov. 22 for Baltimore.

Demonstration of New Method of Teaching Music Was Given Here

Educators everywhere are awakening to the fact that there is a simpler, more effective and entertaining way of learning the rudiments of music than the old way of mastering the technical knowledge of the great art. A new method or system has been thought out by Mrs. Carrie C. Dunning, who gives a simple, entertaining and instructive method in teaching the child, making the rudiments of music attractive. She has eliminated the tedious drudgery of the first principles of music by presenting each topic in a manner that appears to the child's sense of pleasure.

Miss Mary Armstrong, now of Indianapolis, the representative of Mrs. Dunning in the middle and southern states, gave a demonstration of the new method before a number of mothers and children at the home of Mrs. Will Meredith, Saturday afternoon, which was perfectly fascinating. She teaches that the impressions made upon the child's mind between the ages of five and twelve are the most lasting, because then its tender nature is susceptible to the slightest influence. That a year of unsympathetic teaching at this time may be an injury which time cannot obliterate, has been proved again and again. Therefore it is better to employ means which will inspire and not discourage, will interest and not weary; means by which beginners will become intelligent, wise little musicians from the start and acquire a love for that art which has no peer—music.

The pupils are formed into classes and taught by means of symbols, disks, time-sticks and movable musical characters. An ingeniously constructed keyboard, with grand staff attached, is introduced to teach notation. Interesting games make otherwise tedious drills subjects of pleasure, stories and songs are given to stimulate ideas and cultivate musical intelligence. The ear is acquainted with musical tones by aural exercises. Mental drills are employed to awaken musical thought. The eye is trained to read quickly and correctly musical notation. The muscles of the fingers, wrist and arms are developed and strengthened by finger gymnastics and table technique, performed to the rhythm of delightful little songs. Musical principles are taught from memory verses which are easily retained. The sense of rhythm is stimulated and developed by rhythmic exercises and songs. Marches and drills cultivate correct ideas of time. Written work teaches the pupil that music must be written as well as interpreted. Real piano work illustrates the principles taught by games and exercises, pictures and verses give an intimate knowledge of the great composers and cultivate a taste for their compositions. Notation, hand training and ear training, fundamental harmony, theory and musical history are all taught in this unusual manner, which makes the lesson a game to the children and gets them over a great deal of ground in a much shorter time than heretofore. It is intensely practical and develops the musical faculty in a manner that is especially pleasing to the child.

Mrs. Meredith is taking the teachers course under Miss Armstrong and will introduce the new system here early in the new year.

M'GUIRE ISSUES STATEMENT

Says He Is a Victim of Asphalt-Oil Quarrel.

New York, Dec. 8.—James K. McGuire, former mayor of Syracuse and former Democratic state chairman, who has just returned from the West Indies, has issued a statement in which he attributes the evidence given against him which led to his indictment on a charge of soliciting a campaign contribution from a corporation to a quarrel between the asphalt and the oil interests, and characterizes the charges against him as a "desperate attempt of oil men to destroy me—a 'frame-up,' despicable in its object and cruel in its purpose."

"The oil people," he said, "sent men to me before I sailed south on my last business trip, and said that they would destroy Condit's affidavit if I would desert my friends and join the side in the asphalt controversy at Albany."

He Had a Costly Friend.

New York, Dec. 8.—John C. Schildknecht, the $18-a-week bookkeeper who recently pleaded guilty to stealing more than $50,000 from the Washburn-Crosby Flour company, his employers, has been sentenced to Sing Sing prison. Schildknecht admitted that the greater part of the money he had stolen was spent on a young woman.

Will Call on President.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The suffragist committee of fifty-five designated by the national convention to call on the president and lay their cause before him, will make their visit at the White House today.

Will Give Himself Up.

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 8.—Louis Kuhnle, for thirteen years Republican leader of Atlantic county, has been convicted of having, as a member of the board of commissioners of Atlantic City, awarded a contract to a company in which he was a stockholder, and has been sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. He will go to Trenton probably Wednesday, present himself at the office of the warden of the state's prison, there to begin serving his sentence.

No New French Cabinet.

Paris, Dec. 8.—Senator Jean Dupuy, who was asked by President Poincare to form a cabinet to succeed the Barthou ministry when M. Ribot could not be induced to undertake the task, has not yet given a definite reply.

Uric acid in the blood is the cause of this disease.

These small crystals deposit in the blood vessels and retard the circulation and cause irritation and acute pain.

The only sane remedy for this trouble is a uric acid solvent. Lini-ments and counter irritants are but temporary, if any, relief. This trouble can only be reached successfully by internal remedies.

An old English physician, Dr. John Hyde, discovered a remedy while in general practice of medicine that he used with phenomenal success for many years for Rheumatism and Kidney trouble.

He gave the prescription to F. E. Wolcott, the druggist, and he has sold hundreds of bottles of it, always on a guarantee, and but a very few ever were returned.

In the past 6 years he has cured a number of cases who were on crutches and had Lumbago until confined to the house.

It sells on a positive guarantee and pint bottles are only 75c.

CHAPTER XII.

A Critical Moment.

Two days later, and in the middle of the afternoon, Rosalie was again in Miss Estrilla's room suffering from incipient "control." Her eyes stared, her limbs twitched.

"Sorry," said Rosalie, on her entrance, "but I've got it again—an' I can't beat it. Do you mind if I lock the door? I wouldn't be disturbed for a faro—don't know what it would do to me!" She plumped down into a chair, giving a yawn which shook her whole body. Gradually she relaxed. With one heaving sigh she settled back. Her eyes closed; she fell asleep. And presently she was babbling first in the baritone of Doctor Carver and then in the liquid accents of Laughing-Eyes.

Let me omit the preliminaries. They dealt only with trivial things—such little affairs of the house as occurred to the mind of Rosalie Le Grange, working in flashes under her sleeping exterior. She had growled and babbled for five minutes before Laughing-Eyes announced suddenly:

"The lady is sick—the pretty lady. Spirit wants to talk to the lady. Pretty spirit. I feel like a great big queen was here—Vic—Vic—Victoria." The voice of Laughing-Eyes stopped. This was a device of Rosalie's. She wanted to listen. Miss Estrilla had been breathing regularly. Now, on the mention of that name, her breath caught. The voice of Rosalie, her whole facial expression, her manner—if one can attribute manner to a woman who appears to sleep—underwent an abrupt change. The voice deepened; the lines of her face fell; it was Doctor Carver who spoke.

"Victoria is not strong," said the voice; "I sense that she brings consolation. She says that things are bad; but they will be better by and by. It is a mother's influence. Miguel—here Rosalie stopped; and again she noted the irregular breathing from the couch. It was an eternal quarter-minute before she spoke again: this time the voice was a man's, but lighter and higher than that of Doctor Carver; and it spoke Spanish.

"I am here, hijita mia!" it said, and died away. A silence again. "He is gone," said the voice of Doctor Carver. "A spirit wants the young woman who lives below this room—" The seance drifted away into a series of imaginary messages for Miss Harding. But once again Miguel floated into the talk, dropped a word or two of easily-pronounced Spanish, floated again. Presently Doctor Carver came no more; the babblings of Laughing-Eyes became disconnected monosyllables, and died out altogether. Rosalie lay as though asleep.

She lay for five minutes; she lay for ten minutes. "Won't she ever wake me up?" thought Rosalie.

Miss Estrilla moved now and then; now and then her breathing caught. And suddenly—she was not breathing at all. Rosalie steeled herself for the shock of cold water, if that were to be the awakening. The shock came—but in another form.

"I am going to kill you!" said the voice of Miss Estrilla in Spanish; "I am pointing a pistol at your head! Come to me—at once—or I shall fire!"

BUILD UP YOUR SICK STOMACH

Mi-o-na Soothes the Irritated Mem-branes, Stimulates and Strengthens the Stomach.

Mi-o-na is one of the most effective and safe remedies for out-of-order stomachs. It increases the flow of the gastric juices, soothes the irritated membrane, and quickly and safely benefits the digestive system so that your food is promptly converted into nutrition and the entire system properly nourished. Then you are well and strong.

If you lack an appetite, your tongue is coated, nerves on edge, have risings of sour and undigested food and experience after eating distress you are suffering with indigestion or sick stomach.

Get a fifty cent box of Mi-o-na from F. B. Johnson & Co. and begin now to build up your sick and worn-out stomach. Do not delay, many serious diseases start from what was thought to be only an upset stomach. Money refunded if not benefited.

Thirty years in the profession which deals with deities both minute and monstrous, thirty years of emotions simulated, had given Rosalie one great practical talent—control of mind, muscle and nerve. It had given her, too, a courage born of self-confidence, of the well-grounded faith that she could master any situation. Her impulse, under sudden shock of surprise, was to continue, naturally and easily, just what she had been doing. That tided her over the moment of crisis. Her eyes remained closed, her color changed not, her breath came as regularly and evenly as before. There succeeded the critical moment when the control of instinct was gone and the less dependable control of reason reasserted itself. That was hardest of all. She must remember to keep her breathing regular, and her limbs composed; above all—and this is a feat possible only to an actor of parts or a professional medium—to keep the color in her face. She accomplished this by the simple device of sinking her chin close against her collar. It was easier as the moments passed. Nothing had happened, nor was there any movement on the couch. It became certain that this was a test. Rosalie waited. Her left foot was falling asleep.

It came as she had expected—the second test. Clearly and distinctly, Miss Estrilla said in English:

"You are a fraud. I am pointing a revolver at your head. Wake and hold up your hands or I will shoot you!"

Rosalie slumbered on in seeming; and this time it needed no effort of the will. But the foot sent a thousand tiny twinges of pain and discomfort up her ankle. She was meditating how she might manage a natural awakening, when Miss Estrilla shook her and said in her natural voice:

"Mrs. Le Grange! Mrs. Le Grange! Wake up!"

Rosalie came to full consciousness most artistically and effectively.

"What was it—dear me, my foot's asleep! Ow!" she said. She rose and hobbled about the room. "Did I stay out long? This just takes the limp out of me—I won't be fit for a thing to-morrow an' it's scrub-day, too! What have I been talkin' about—or did I talk at all? They've told me that sometimes I never say a word."

"Oh, a great many things."

"Well, I must have, I'm that tucked-out. Excuse me for askin', but was it about anybody in the house?"

"You did bring something for me; just a little—but it was something I wanted to know. Do you think you can find more next time, if—"

"Now, my dear!" put in Rosalie, "don't ask me that! I can't tell you how hard I've been tryin' to stop this thing, which is bothersome to say the best about it!"—she crossed the room—

"I've let it come these two or three times just because I couldn't help it. It would be askin' a lot."

"But it would comfort me," replied the invalid, weakly; and there were tears in her voice. "And, oh, you don't know how I need comfort!"

"Poor dear! I know how it is. You're sick, an' I suppose you have your troubles—we all have in this world. But when a person's sick, she jest lays an' lets it roll up in her, like. Well, now, let's see—" Rosalie paused as though considering. "I tell you what I'll do. I won't try, an' I won't force it, but seem' this is private-like, I'll stop resistin' the influence when it comes over me. An' I'll always beat it straight here. Perhaps it was sent to do us both good! That's settled."

Rosalie held that night another of her outdoor conferences with Inspector McGee.

"Well, I'm comin' out with it," she announced. "I've got to tell somebody. I guess I've got your case started, Martin McGee!"

"Then this fellow Wade—" "You make me," said Rosalie; "you make me want to shut my mouth an' never tell you anythin' at all. Wade! A cop can't keep two ideas in his mind at one an' the same time, any more'n a horse. Martin McGee, you listen an' don't you say a word until I'm through." With a logical consecutiveness almost surprising in Rosalie, she stated her case from the beginning. Tommy North's clew of the diamond ring which Tommy North had dropped and which had set Rosalie on the trail, the discovery that the coverlet on Captain Hanska's bed had been wet with rain from the open window; the finding of the little red button on the fire escape, the discovery that Miss Estrilla had among her possessions a pair of red strapped shoes with a button missing, and the final fact—the button matched.

Inspector McGee received that dramatic information with a long whistle of amazement.

"That sick woman!" he said. "Gee, and I'd thought of examining her. But there didn't seem to be a chance on earth. I'd thought more about that brother of hers."

Rosalie pursued her narrative, setting forth her discovery that Estrilla was an assumed name and the discoveries of Detective Grimaldi about the history of the Perez family in Trinidad. She proceeded then to the seances, and to Miss Estrilla's attempt at frightening her out of control.

"Is that all?" asked McGee.

"Yes. Ain't it enough?"

"Well, it's suspicious. But there's no real evidence. Nothing you can convict on. Suppose I pinch her—and her brother, too—and give 'em the Third Degree?"

"See here, Martin McGee," replied Rosalie, "what have I been takin' all this trouble for, spendin' my good time to get her to believe I'm a medium, if I ain't to be trusted to run this case? You can have your Third Degree afterward—when I'm through with mine."

"That's so," replied McGee. "Well, anything I can do to help?"

"Yes. How long does it take to get a man to Trinidad? Or is there anybody in Port of Spain that you can use?"

"I've had a man there a week. Another case—missing burglar."

"That's good. Very important?"

"No. I guess he can be spared."

"Luck's with us if nothin' else. This is a three-times winnin'. Now you just cable him—wait a minute, I'll write the message—got a pencil an' paper?"

They were in a side street. A lamp-post threw a shaft of light across the stoop of a vacant house. Rosalie set herself on the lowest step, braced the note-book which McGee produced, and, with many a purse of lip and brow, composed the following message:

"Drop anything and get full information on the late Miguel Perez, cacao grower of Port of Spain, and his family, especially Juan, his son, and a daughter, probably half-sister of Juan, name unknown. Details about life of the family especially wanted and the smaller the better. Learn everything you can about first wife. Suggest pumping old family servants. Wire in full as you get the dope."

"There," concluded Rosalie, "an' a lot I'm goin' to cost New York City for cable tolls."

"Say," said Martin McGee, "when they put this Estrilla woman through—if she's the one—I can see the papers. 'Woman against woman. Ex-medium sends victim to the—'"

"Don't say that!" exclaimed Rosalie. "For God's sake don't!" She had been walking elbow to elbow, leaning a little upon him. Now she drew away. And much more that Martin McGee had intended to say, remained unsaid that evening.

For months Rushville readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. What other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit?

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 North Arthur street, Rushville, Ind., says: "One of the family had attacks of backache, caused by disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to our attention and we got a supply at Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. Two boxes relieved him of the trouble. Our former endorsements of this remedy still holds good."

MEXICANS IN FEAR OF VICISSITUDES OF WARExodus From Other Side of the Border Increasing.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 8.—A big bullion train which has been on the way from Parral, Mexico, for the past two weeks arrived Sunday safely on the American side of the Rio Grande above Ojinaga. There were sixteen wagons in the train, each drawn by sixteen mules, with a military escort of 150 men. In the train were 617 bars of bullion weighing 125 pounds each, which at the present price of silver would make the value of the shipment $740,000 in gold.

This morning the train started for Marfa, Tex., seventy miles away.

The members of the bullion party know nothing of the great caravan of refugees from Chihuahua being conveyed to the border by the remnant of General Mercado's defeated army, except what they learned from scouts and couriers during the past few days. They passed Chihuahua before the city was evacuated and were never overtaken.

Scouts arriving from the caravan say that the party is making only fifteen miles a day and the refugees are still forty miles from the border. The men said that the few horses in the caravan were weary and the men, women and children on foot were footsore from their long journey, but were making noble efforts to reach the border.

Owing to the close approach of Mercado's army, which is variously estimated at from 2,500 to 4,000 men, all Mexican ranchers and their employes in the valleys of the Conchos river and the Rio Grande, south of Ojinaga, are flocking to Ojinaga and thence to the American side, fearing that a battle may take place and that they may be the victims. Many Mexicans have left for Marfa to be safely beyond the reach of Mexican bullets should a battle occur and either party fire across the boundary line.

He Wouldn't Pay His Fine.

Shelbyville, Ind., Dec. 8.—For hunting without a license Walter Isgrigg was fined $18. Isgrigg went to jail rather than pay the fine.

Twelve bills relating to trust regulation already are before the senate committee and several before the house committee.

The Cuban senate has passed the amnesty bill, freeing negro rebels and the former Liberal officeholders of the Gomez administration who had been charged with various crimes.

Miss Clara Price, eighteen years old, of Tomah, Wis., rushed with her clothing in flames to a neighbor, but was not admitted to the house for fear of setting it on fire. She died before assistance could be given her.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, President Wilson's son-in-law and daughter, arrived in London in raw and chilly weather and saw and tasted one of the famous fogs as they stepped from Paddington station.

DESIRE TO MAKE REPORT WARMER

Draft of This Official Review Not Hot Enough.

SAY SOME OF THE MEMBERS

Congress Committee Which Heard the Allegations Presented by Mulhall in the Lobby Probe Hearing Think the Chairman's Report, Now Ready to Be Submitted to House, Hasn't "Enough Teeth."

Washington, Dec. 8.—The majority members of the special committee of the house appointed last June to investigate the Mulhall lobby charges has completed its report, which will be submitted in the house within a few days. While the report is lengthy and exhaustive in its review of the extended hearings, it fails to find anything tangible in Colonel Mulhall's marvelous fabric of allegations against the probity of members of the house of representatives, except as regards Representative James T. McDermott, Democrat, of Illinois. Even in the case of Mr. McDermott the committee does not go to the length of recommending action of a punitive character.

The lobbying activities of the National Association of Manufacturers are characterized as reprehensible and surprise is expressed that patriotic, law-abiding citizens who comprise the rank and file of the association, should have countenanced such methods as were employed by Mulhall and others.

In regard to Representative McDermott the committee says: "Your committee is of the opinion that the most serious question of propriety affecting Mr. McDermott is not in connection with the National Association of Manufacturers or the other matters above related, but grows out of his acts and dealings with the liquor dealers' association of the District of Columbia and with George Horning, one of the pawnbrokers to which allusion has been made."

The report reviews the evidence at great length. Representative Garrett of Tennessee prepared the first draft, which some of his Democratic colleagues on the committee did not think had "enough teeth," and it was revised with his consent in several particulars. There is every indication that some members of the committee differing in views as to conservative language in which Mr. Garrett couched his draft of the report, will present a minority report. The members who have been threatening dissent favor more severe language.

For the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Council for Industrial Defense, its corollary, the committee reserves some hot shot. It declares that the action of those associations in having their "paid hirelings" about the capitol of the nation buttonholing members of congress and doing such things as striving to have them remain away when votes were taken could only be described as offensive and outrageous; that it went far beyond the limits of decent lobbying and legitimate effort to influence legislation, and deserves the severest censure.

Charged With Embezzlement.
Peru, Ind., Dec. 8.—Thomas Hackett is charged with embezzlement and grand larceny by Andrew Steinments, who alleges that he gave Hackett $8,000 with which to buy a saloon, but that Hackett did not do it. Steinments asserts the money has never been returned to him.

The new schedule for the parcel post which goes into effect on Jan. 1, will mean a heavy burden to the railroads, more competition for the express companies and much more work for post-office employes throughout the country.

Obituary.

Rob Roy Ruff was born near Glenwood, Ind., July 20th, 1878, and departed this life December 2, 1913, at the age of 35 years, 4 months, and 12 days. He was the second son of Thos. B. and Adeline Ruff both deceased.

Roy as he was familiarly known has lived in this community all his life. From his infancy he has suffered from bronchial affection and which finally terminated in his death. It was said by his physician that he probably never experienced a well day but in some measure suffered every day of his life. Those who have been blessed with physical health and a sound body do not realize what it means to be constantly conscious of pain, and often lack the sympathy that should be shown to those who are less fortunate and who are greatly afflicted. For years greatly afflicted. For several years it has looked to many of his friends that the end of his earthly career was not far distant and it has been a marvel to many what he has been able to endure, but as there is an end to all physical endurance so he reached the limit of his strength and his body weakened by disease gave way to the Monster death.

He united with the Glenwood M. E. church January 10, 1894, during the pastorate of Bro. Scull assisted by Bro. Wines and was received into full connection September 23, of the same year, having been baptized in infancy.

Naturally he was of a quick temperament and he often said that his temper was one of the greatest things he had to contend with. This in a large measure doubtless was caused from his bodily affliction. He said no one knew what he had to contend with and what he suffered.

He was told by the physicians that they could not permanently cure him and realized as he grew weaker in body that the end was gradually approaching and often voluntarily spoke of it. He asked his doctor to tell him at anytime that he thought there was a probability of his not living and this promise the doctor kept a few hours before he died. His pastor asked if he should sing and pray and at his request he sang several songs and prayed with him and gave to him many of the precious promises of God, which he seemed greatly to appreciate and said he was trusting the Lord.

He was married to Nellie Mingle, May 6, 1903 with whom he lived until his death, and who was to him a faithful companion and tenderly administered to him during all his illness. He is survived by his wife, their little adopted son Edgar, two sisters Mrs. Blanche Wilson, who lives near Rushville and Mrs. Margaret Cook of Columbus, Ohio, one brother Earl Ruff of Glenwood and two half brothers Harry and Willard Ruff of Columbus, O., and many other relatives and friends. 23111

You see more of our Storm Buggies on the road than all the other makes combined. They are built to fill the requirements of the buggy users of Rush county. They are built of material that has given satisfaction and long road service to the user. They are nice proportioned and up to the minute in style. They are guaranteed to be right in every respect, and should there be anything wrong with a buggy we make it right. Then last, but a very essential part of this argument is the price we are able to make you on these buggies which means a saving of at least $10.00 on each ob you buy. These are some of the reasons why we sell the big per cent of the vehicles sold in Rush County today. The majority of people are going to buy where they can get the best value for their money and there is no exception to this rule. Get in line with the majority of the buggy users and buy your next one of sweetmeats and toys which will bring happiness to three score little folks who otherwise would have cheerless Christmas.

Another call came from a young lady who was speaking for the Christian Sunday school at Cowan. She said that arrangements have been made to care for all the unfortunate in that vicinity and that they are anxious to help in caring for some of the poor children in Muncie. She has asked for and will be furnished a list of children before Christmas time.

The "Good Fellow" movement is a movement purely in the interest of the children who, without the aid of some kindly disposed person, would never know the joy of a Christmas stocking filled with tops and goodies on Christmas morning.

BIG CROWD IS ON HANDS

Prizes Are Given in Word Contest Saturday Night.

Kennedy & Casady's store was crowded Saturday night when the awards in the contest, which was advertised last week, were made. More people were attracted than could get in the store. The first slip drawn out of the box was the answer submitted by Mrs. Blanch Allsman. Since it was correct and Mrs. Alsman was present, the first prize was given to her. The second was incorrect, but the third was right and was given by Mrs. Cicero Newhouse, who was present. The first prize was three dollars in merchandise and the second prize two dollars in merchandise. The correct answer was "Do Your Christmas shopping early at Kennedy & Casady's; it means dollars to you."

Augusta Knabe Resumes Her Story in Murder Trial Today.

Shelbyville, Ind., December 8.—Miss Augusta Knabe resumed her testimony this morning at the trial of Dr. William B. Craig, charged in an indictment with the murder of Dr. Helene Knabe, who was a cousin of the witness. Henry N. Spaan again announced that as soon as the state has concluded its testimony he will ask the court to order a verdict of acquittal. His ground, as he explained it for the demand, is that the prosecution has not made a case of even probable guilt against Dr. Craig.
